

TR REGISTER CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY IN GREAT STYLE

Incredible collection of Works Triumphs at International Weekend

The TR Register pulled out all the stops to assemble an amazing collection of ex-Works competition cars to help celebrate the Register's 40th anniversary at its annual International Weekend in July (see p16 for an event report and more details). Gathering 23 such vehicles together (above) was extraordinary enough, but even more remarkably there were two original TRS cars there (right), brought over from Germany by father and son team, Arved and Mike Otto. Mike had originally confirmed his intentions to attend the event many months beforehand, but the Register were delighted to receive a message from his father, Arved, saying that he too would be coming along with the sister TRS, but as a surprise to his son and to keep it secret from him! All went well until they met accidentally at the Morgan car factory on the trip organised by the TR Register on Friday afternoon, and the cat was out of the bag!

FREE TICKETS TO THE NEC!

The Footman James Classic Motor Show, the UK's biggest classic motoring exhibition, drives back into Birmingham from 12-14 November. Spanning six halls of the NEC and displaying over 1200 cars, the show is the finale to the British classic car season and a chance for the UK's motoring clubs to come together and celebrate the best of the classic motoring scene.

The Wheeler Dealer Live Stage will be back with TV's Mike Brewer and Edd China, while the experts will be out in force in the Restoration Theatre showing you how to tackle all aspects of restoration. You can also take a ride in a classic in exchange for a donation to charity, courtesy of the Sporting Bears Motor Club, browse some 300 trade stands and trawl through the autojumble. Tickets start at £17.50 when purchased in advance – for more information, visit www.necclassicmotorshow.com.

CLASSIC RALLY CARS AVAILABLE FOR HIRE

New venture is ideal for beginners, those on a limited budget and visitors from overseas alike

The Historic Endurance Rallying Organisation (HERO) is opening up this exciting branch of the hobby to even more enthusiasts by offering for hire seven fully equipped classic rally cars – including this TR6 – through its new programme, Arrive & Drive. Each car is owned by HERO, and was recently renovated to rally specifications with a view to competing in classic and historic endurance rallying and classic car tours.

The Arrive & Drive programme is believed to be the only scheme to offer classic rally-equipped cars for rent on road events, and is a cost-effective solution to those wanting access to the ever-growing sport of classic and historic rallying, without having to invest in ownership due to budget or time constraints. 'We believe we are the first to offer our own classic rally cars, which are maintained by our retained professional mechanics,' said Peter Nedin, Events Director at HERO. 'This is the perfect answer to enthusiasts outside the UK who want to compete on HERO events without having to ship cars, and for newcomers looking to start classic rallying on a limited budget.'

HERO's next event will be the Scottish Malts scheduled for 6-10 September, and the detailed list of cars available on the Arrive & Drive scheme can be viewed at www.heroevents.eu. Alternatively, you can call the team on 01656 740275. ➤
